Ans 1 The school boy loves to rise on a summer morning because it is fresh and delightful, birds are singing on the tree, far away hunters are blowing horn and sky look is singing with him.

Ans 2 He does not like to go to school during such a sweet and nice weather but he has to go to school and spend time under teacher's supervision. All these things take out his joy.

Ans 3 The school boy prays his parents that if you destroy the buds and small plants to become flowers and big plants. How will these give you joy in summer day and same things apply children.

Ans 4 Eleven and twelve lines in the poem tell us that children do not enjoy sitting in class. He does not take interest in study and anxiously waits for the end of the day.
